

My name is Kaitie Fox. I am running for Junior class president for 2007-2008.

I am a very creative person with an artistic eye that would contribute to the preparation of prom, as it is job for this position. I am a skilled communicator, and able to express my ideas to many people, whether it is by talking using my hands, or even drawing out what I mean. I am able to lead a group of people to do a certain thing or event. I have an open mind and I encourage people to come to me with their problems. I'm friendly, outgoing, and accepting of everyone, and if they have something to say, then I will be there to lend a listening ear and have an open mind to figure out how to handle their issue, or how to address it properly. I am responsible, levelheaded, organized, and a quick learner. I can handle monetary figures quite well, also; in the past I have been treasurer and president of a 4-H club. Because of this, I am skilled in organizing fund-raisers and managing money. I am also very focused and I can concentrate when necessary, but have a light spirit when appropriate. Additionally, I'm going to be in the school the entire school day, so I am able to observe problems or complaints from the students and communicate with them.

My goals for this next year include helping to create a wonderful prom experience for the seniors and to make information very available to the student body. I would try to bring information into the student center, perhaps set up a table containing either the information itself, or a list of exactly where to find the information or what teacher to look for and what room they are usually in. To better the prom experience, a fundraiser would be held- or quite a few would be held. One fund raiser in particular that I have a vision for is to hold a giant "garage sale" at the school, selling donated items from the students. For example, some students could bring little trinkets that they have just cluttering the school, and others could bring things like sofas. I would establish a team to help with advertising, and I would help as well. All, or most, of the profits would go to the school, helping to pay for prom as a priority, and then other clubs if there is extra money. Also, if possible, I'd like to help fix the school. There is so much damage within the school, like bathroom locks are broken off, and machines in the cafeteria are faulty. I'd like to possibly use a fundraiser to help get some of those things fixed to a decent extent. I want people to like the school, and that may be a step to achieving that.
